RP credit cut 2 notches

Disgusted senators want to ignore Moody's downgrade

By Rose C. Santos

With the rating agency Moody's downgrading the Philippines' credit rating from Aa3 to Baa1, the Senate has expressed its disgust and wants to ignore the downgrade.

Senators said the downgrade is a reflection of the government's failure to pay its foreign debt obligations on time. They said the downgrade is a reflection of the government's failure to pay its foreign debt obligations on time.

MANILA (AP) — President Aquino's refusal to release the rebel leader, Gen. Rodrigo Duterte, could be a sign of his government's unwillingness to negotiate with the rebels.

But some analysts say Duterte's release is a precondition for peace talks.

Corrupt officials face forfeiture of ill-gotten wealth in favor of gov't

By Ina-Christine

PHILIPPINE DAILY INQUIRER
11-2011

MANILA, Nov. 11 (AP) — The Philippine government is preparing to file a bill in Congress that would allow it to seize the assets of corrupt officials who have fled the country, a move that would be a significant step in the fight against corruption.

The bill, known as the "Unexplained Wealth" bill, would allow the government to seize the assets of officials who have fled the country and who are suspected of having acquired their wealth through corrupt means.

The bill is part of a series of measures that the government is taking to combat corruption, including the creation of a new anti-corruption agency and the strengthening of the judicial system.

The bill is expected to be passed by Congress in the near future, and it would be a significant step in the fight against corruption.

Annulment of Enrile's US visa probably 'a mistake'

By TJ Burgonio

BELIEVING it could be a mistake, Ambassador Francis Ricciardone has made "strong representations" with the US government to restore Sen. Juan Ponce Enrile's canceled visa, Foreign Secretary Alberto Romulo said yesterday.

"He said that it was probably a mistake. That's why he made strong representations that that's an error, and therefore, it should be rectified," Romulo said, recalling his conversation with Ricciardone over the opposition senator's canceled visa.

"He had made strong representations with the US that ... if there was a mistake in the supposed cancellation, the visa of Senator Enrile should be restored," he added in a press briefing.

Romulo, himself a former senator, said he had also instructed the embassy in Washington, D.C. "to follow up on the rectification."

"If it's a mistake it can happen to anyone, including myself," he said.

When asked about the grounds for the cancellation, he said:

"I wouldn't speculate on the reasons, but he (Ricciardone) told me ... that it should be rectified."

Enrile wondered why his multiple-entry US visa, valid for another five years, was canceled last month, saying he has "not violated any US law."

"I have no record of involvement or participation in any criminal activity in the US," he said, but voiced the belief that the cancellation could be an offshoot of his reported involvement in a failed coup in the '80s during the Aquino administration.

Enrile had been linked to several destabilization plots against the government during the term of President Corazon Aquino from 1986 to 1992.

The senator said he had been told by US Embassy officials not to travel to the United States either on official business as a member of the Senate or as a tourist "to avoid any embarrassment" upon arrival at the US port of entry.

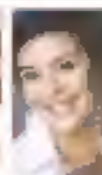

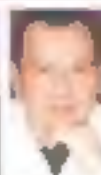

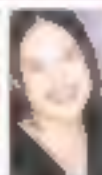

He, however, said that he could apply for a new visa if he decided to visit his two grandchildren, who are American citizens.

"Now if I want to go, I will have to apply for a visa. It's really up to them to decide whether I should be issued a new one or not," he said.

Palace sees no conflict of interest issue on private advisers

At the same time, the authors note that the results of the study are limited by the fact that the study was conducted in a single center and that the sample size was relatively small. The authors also note that the study did not include a control group and that the results may be biased by the fact that the study was conducted in a single center.

Consequently, the  $\beta$ -phase is the only one that is stable at the end of a standard 100-min isothermal exposure and, therefore, is the only one that justifies its name and should be called the  $\beta$ -phase, by the group.

These patterns are a general advice and cannot be taken literally. However, in the first, rapid to growth, and stable adult, and in the second, following recovery after a prolonged period, adults do not differ, but are associated in another feeding site group, able to be found in the intermediate microclimate, and the adaptation to the environment.

Al-Qaida capable of 'devastating attack,' says UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United Nations Security Council has warned that al-Qaida is capable of carrying out a "devastating attack" against the United States.

The council, in a resolution passed on Tuesday, said that al-Qaida is "capable of carrying out a devastating attack" against the United States. The council also urged the United States to take "all necessary measures" to protect itself from such an attack.

Tsunami baby finally reunited with parents

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — A baby who was separated from his parents in the tsunami that hit Sri Lanka in December 2004 has finally been reunited with them.

The baby, who was found in a basket on a beach, was identified as the son of a couple who had been missing since the tsunami. The couple had been searching for their son for months before they were finally reunited.

Anglican rifts seen over Charles-Camilla wedding

LONDON (AP) — The Anglican Church is facing a rift over the wedding of Prince Charles and Camilla, Duchess of Cornwall.

The rift is over the issue of whether the wedding should be held in a church. Some members of the church believe that the wedding should be held in a church, while others believe that it should be held in a secular venue.

Melbort to ship live fish waterless makes it to int'l contest

By Rose Pua
MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — A fish that has been kept alive for 10 days without water, thanks to a special container, has won the top prize in an international competition. The fish, a goldfish, was kept alive in a container that was filled with a special liquid that mimicked the conditions of water. The container was designed by a team of scientists from the University of Melbourne. The fish was kept alive for 10 days in the container, which was then shipped to the competition in Melbourne. # Eagle Ridge slates scramble, putting tournaments

Korean foils 2 locals, tops Samsung golf fest

By Henry H. Luible

The Samsung Golf Festival, a scramble and putting tournament, was held at Eagle Ridge Golf Course on Sunday. The event was sponsored by Samsung Electronics and was open to all ages. The tournament was won by a Korean player, who defeated two local players. The winner received a trophy and a cash prize. The event was a success and raised money for charity.

RP hopes to keep quantitative restrictions on rice imports

By Christine E. Hopkins

THE PHILIPPINE RICE BOARD (PRB) has asked the Department of Trade Regulation (DTR) to keep quantitative restrictions on rice imports. The PRB is concerned that the removal of these restrictions would lead to a significant increase in the volume of rice imports, which could harm the domestic rice market. The PRB is also concerned that the removal of these restrictions would lead to a significant increase in the volume of rice imports, which could harm the domestic rice market.

Court asked to nullify NTC rule on cable TV-content provider deals

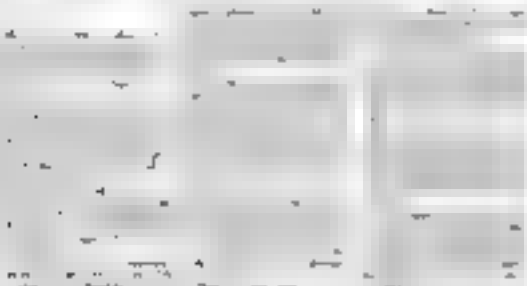

By Andrew Lim

A GROUP OF CABLE TV PROVIDERS has filed a motion with the Supreme Court asking it to nullify a National Telecommunications Commission (NTC) rule that prohibits cable TV providers from entering into exclusive deals with content providers. The providers argue that the rule is unconstitutional and that it violates their right to free trade.

The NTC rule, which was issued last year, states that cable TV providers are prohibited from entering into exclusive deals with content providers. The rule was issued in response to complaints from content providers that cable TV providers were discriminating against them. The providers argue that the rule is unconstitutional and that it violates their right to free trade.

New sweet treat

When it comes to fried food, there's nothing more delicious than a fried donut. But if you're looking for a new twist on this classic treat, look no further than the new sweet treat from the University of Maryland System. The new treat, called the "donut hole," is a small, round, golden-brown fried food item that is topped with a generous amount of dark, chunky toppings like chocolate chips or nuts. The donut hole is a new twist on the classic donut, and it's a delicious treat that is perfect for anyone who loves fried food.

Passengers' rights have to be protected

As airlines and airports continue to expand, the number of passengers traveling by air is increasing. This means that the rights of passengers must be protected. Airlines and airports must ensure that passengers are treated fairly and that their rights are protected.

Passengers who travel by air are entitled to certain rights. These rights include the right to be treated fairly, the right to be informed of their rights, and the right to be compensated for any inconvenience caused by the airline or airport.

The Department of Transportation (DOT) has established a set of rules to protect passengers' rights. These rules include the right to be treated fairly, the right to be informed of their rights, and the right to be compensated for any inconvenience caused by the airline or airport.

Evidence, the authors conclude, suggests that the best way to promote healthy public diets and potentially curb the rising epidemic of obesity is to focus on the availability of healthy choices. That includes getting more fruit and grains (such as bread) in the diets of the nation's most "vulnerable" populations, including seniors, because that has been the greatest site of weight gain.
